PRESIDENT'S PULSE

So, unless you are the odd Corvette fan who lives under a rock with no television, internet, or other connections to the outside world, you that this year brought us the long rumored and awaited mid-engined C8 Corvette.

You also know that the 2020 list price was $59,995. Pretty amazing price considering the big upgrades in performance. You also know that the vast majority of actual cars sold to actual customers didn't roll out the door for this number!

This got me to thinking. If money were no object, just how much could one spend on a 2020, if you really went deep crazy?

The answer is:

$106,700

How do you manage to add a whopping $46,705 to what is already a great ride? Options, my friends, lots of options. Crazy options. Unusual options. Options that I'm not really sure about just what they are!

A few obvious ones. Add $7,500 for the convertible instead of the coupe. Add the Z51 pack for a little more performance. Throw in the performance wheels ($2,605), the Long Beach Red Metallic ($995) and a metallic Carbon Flash dual racing stripe ($995).

Now we get to the "more money than sense" list. Top of that list? Luggage. Only $1,450 for the two pieces! Carbon fiber all over the place. At least $3,200 worth (just the carbon fiber grill insert was $2,095!) $500 more for the Competition Seats.

My personal vote for "what were they thinking" has to be the personalized interior plate for the bargain price of only $200!

There 's more, but I think you see my point. You can spend just about as much as you want.

My challenge to those with time on their hands. Pull up the Chevrolet web site and configure one for yourself. See if I missed anything that could drive the price up from here!

Happy motoring – I look forward to the day we can meet again as a group.

Don't forget to look elsewhere in the newsletter for details on the October mini-cruise.
